In accordance with the Museums Australia Constitution and By-Laws, all members of Museums Australia National Networks are current members of Museums Australia.

The Aviation Museum National Network is dedicated to preserving, restoring, and displaying Australia's aviation heritage in museums all around the country.

Our vast continent has been explored, developed, serviced, and protected by Australian aircraft and Australian pilots for more than 100 years. From the Great War to peace-keeping roles and everything in between, Australian aviation history is rich and diverse.

We invite you to explore the Aviation Museum National Network Trail and discover each of our individual museums, their unique aircraft, historical artefacts and Australia's aviation heritage.
